

ASX Announcement

6 September, 2017

VIDEO: POSITIVE BATTERY TESTWORK & MARKETING STRATEGY

Shareholders in Hexagon Resources (ASX: HXG) are advised that the company's Managing Director, Mike Rosenstreich, is featured in a video interview which provides commentary around the Company's recent positive Battery test work outcomes and its overall marketing strategy for planned flake graphite concentrate production from its flagship McIntosh Graphite Project, located in Western Australia.

In the interview, Mr Rosenstreich provides discussion around:

- The significance of the recent battery test work results reported to ASX on 16 August, 2017 verifying suitability as anode material for lithium ion batteries;
- Downstream processing for battery offtake; and
- The company's developing marketing plans for concentrate aimed at the lithium ion battery market and possibly also the expandable graphite sector.

The video is available at: <https://youtu.be/oVMpPo5uGys>

For further information, please contact:

Mike Rosenstreich

Managing Director

Hexagon Resources Limited

MIKER@hexagonresources.com

+61 8 6244 0349

David Ikin

Senior Account Director

Professional Public Relations

David.ikin@ppr.com.au

+ 61 408 438 772